

HOWEVER, HOWEVER

Hey you, my light, my light
Give me give me give me love
I took took the ice from your mother
I took your mother to the ice
Frost that breathed and bit my tongue
Began breathing frost, started biting my tongue
I sat down to sit, I wrote without thinking O light of light, and I stepped in front of the lights until the lights went out in front

Hey Black Black are the days when they do not see you
Black are the days when you can not see me too
Hey black, dark days have not seen you
Black are the days you can not see for two
I'm like the sweet dates in your cake
From myself to myself I dance
Give me your hand to lead me
I give you my hand and my pen
The sound you make my heart stops
Your sound it makes me wonder
I'll give you the sound when my heart stops
I'll give you the sound of wonder
